The Patient Helping Fund at San Joaquin General Hospital (SJGH) is a “helping hand” for our patients and families in need. This non-profit fund receives donations through fundraising activities and from employees of San Joaquin County, mostly in Health Care Services, who contribute through the annual United Way® Campaign.

Some examples of the acute needs the fund has addressed over the years for patients and families include such items as clothes, food, and safety equipment to patients who have no other resources; assisted parents who have lost a child at birth by covering the initial burial costs; purchased prosthetic devices that are not covered by insurance to help patients regain their independence and sense of normalcy; in unique situations we have assisted patients returning to their hometown after sustaining an injury or illness while in our community. Each expense is reviewed and approved by the members of the fund’s board.
